DETAILED ACTION

The preliminary amendment filed July 11, 2005 has been entered.

Claims 1-37 are pending in the instant application.

Election/Restriction

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-36, drawn to a transgenic mouse comprising, integrated into its genome, a gene encoding human amyloid precursor protein and a gene encoding human a-synuclein, classified in class 800, subclass 18.
- II. Claim 37, drawn to a method of screening for therapeutic agents for the prevention or treatment of neurological disease, classified in class 800, subclass 3.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the product as claimed, i.e. the transgenic mouse of the invention of Group I, can be used to harvest cells for in vitro assays, thus demonstrating a materially different process of using that product and meeting criteria (2). Thus, the transgenic mouse of the invention of Group I is patentably distinct from the method of the invention of Group II.

Art Unit: 1632

Each of the inventions of Groups I and II requires consideration of separate issues relating to assessment of novelty, obviousness, utility, written description, and enablement. For example, the invention of Group I requires consideration of issues relating to the utility of the transgenic mouse as claimed, for any asserted utility, whereas the invention of Group II requires consideration of issues relating to the utility and enablement of the screening methods as claimed. The utility of a transgenic mouse would be quite different from the utility of screening methods. Furthermore, the searches for the inventions of Groups I and II are not coextensive. For example, a search for the transgenic mouse of the invention of Group I would not necessarily identify art teaching the screening methods of the invention of Group II. Additional searching would be required to cover the full scope of the invention of Group II and additional examination would be required to address all the issues relevant to Group II. Thus, search and examination of both inventions in a single patent application constitutes a serious burden on the Office.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and recognized divergent subject matter and because the searches required for the separate inventions are not coextensive, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Art Unit: 1632

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
